The Magic of Success In High School: Five Need To Knows!

- How do we set up a culture of success wherein students take ownership of their learning?
- What are some to keys to student motivation and “staying on track”?
- How can counselors best work with students and families to encourage success?
- What are some of the guidelines in making great career choices consistent with students’ interests and passion?
- How do we make sure there is equity for all students in creating success, both in the high school years and post-secondary?

Featuring: Sam Feeney, Chief Development Officer, SimpliCollege
Penny Ciaburri, CEO, PLC Associates, Inc.

About The Program:

This is a very unique program, offered jointly, from PLC Associates, Inc. and SimpliCollege. We understand the challenges of structuring the high school experience so that first, students want to be in school and... then, that their experience is relevant, engaging and confidence-building for the many exciting opportunities and challenges that will be coming next. This is what PLC Associates does best! SimpliCollege, as a support system, adds a tremendous dimension to making this possible!

PLC Associates, Inc., working in over 19 states and 1500 schools nationally, is well-positioned to assist in setting up the dynamic culture needed for this success, assisting in analyzing data, designing systems and student supports that “keep students on track” and essentially building the kind of environment where staff, students and families thrive. Isn’t that what everyone wants? Especially important, we must make sure there is equity in programming and opportunities will be available for all students. PLC is expert in utilizing research-based best instructional practices and interfacing them with the relevant technology applications so that the classroom experience is vibrant and dynamic. Our staff will assist you and your school in operationalizing the SimpliCollege offerings as we simultaneously build a high performance infrastructure that sustain great results.

SimpliCollege is an easy-to use, inexpensive tool, especially for students and families, to utilize. Planning post-secondary experiences can be very challenging – so many decisions, and it starts in grade eight! It Includes:

- Comprehensive lessons on what to look for in a college
- Instruction on the financial aid process (FAFSA, student loans, etc.)
- Explanations and templates for use in the financial aid award appeal process
- SimpliStudent lessons and year-by-year checklists to guide the work
- Content and advisory lessons plus personal notes and templates for family use
- Reports and analytics for the school and for students to access
- Self-guided processes based on a family's timeline with numerous links for resources
- Instructions and examples of resume creation...and so much more!

We would like to give you a glimpse some of the great content in this program!

Working With PLC Associates, Inc:

"I do want you to know that my principals and school teams cannot say enough about the quality facilitation they are receiving. The schools are raving about their preparedness, focus, and overall manner. Very glad we are working with your group!"

Large Suburban District Assistant Superintendent

Utilizing SimpliCollege:

"SimpliCollege saves me from answering the same questions continually and allows me to have in-depth conversations with my families about what they need for college. It saves me a ton of time, and families are getting the right information from a very-well constructed source with accurate and helpful content."
